

BURGLARIZED TWO STORES SATURDAY

Gang Of Youthful Thieves Resumes Operations After Brief Vacation—Stores of Jacob And Simon Siller Burled—Clothes Line Robbed.

After a vacation of several weeks the gang of youthful thieves resumed operations by burglarizing two butcher shops downtown, and robbing a clothes line. They secured three new shirts, about $17 in money and a fountain pen.

Jacob Siller's butcher shop is located at No. 39 East Pierpont street. Mr. Siller resides at 57 East Pierpont street, but in the rear of his store has two rooms which are used as a kitchen and dining room. The thieves broke a window in the kitchen and obtained entrance to the store. There was about $15 in money that Mr. Siller had left in the money drawer after closing the store Saturday night. The money was taken and also a fountain pen. A bracelet that was in the dining room was evidently overlooked by the gang.

Next door resides Mrs. Josephine Smith who had three new shirts hanging on the clothes line. These shirts were also taken by the thieves.

Mr. Siller has a brother, Simon Siller, also in the butcher business with a store on East Union street. Entrance to the store was obtained by breaking a window in the rear, but all the thieves got for their trouble was about $2 in pennies.

As far as known no meat was stolen from either store.

WOOLEN MILLS LOWER WAGES

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Lawrence, Mass., Jan. 17.—A 22½ per cent decrease in the wages of textile operatives went into effect in the four mills of the American Woolen Company today. The mills were open, most of the departments running on part time.

The statement of A. J. Muste, leader of the Amalgamated Textile Workers, that "hell will break loose," failed to materialize. Members of the Amalgamated marched to the mills and some were given work. There was not work enough for all, however, and the unemployed marched back to Amalgamated headquarters. There was no disorder.

Members of the United Textile Workers of America apparently heeded the advice of Thomas McMahon, vice president, who said: "This is a unique opportunity for a strike and we don't propose to allow the manufacturers to select the time and place for the battle."

Both McMahon and Muste agreed that reduction in wages were not justified by the present cost of living and "profits piled up by the manufacturers."

United Textile Workers have begun a drive to recruit at least 75 per cent of the 35,000 textile operatives here.

SMITH NEW TAMMANY HEAD

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Jan. 17.—While confirmation was lacking, a persistent report was current in Democratic circles today that Charles F. Murphy is to retire as leader of Tammany Hall and that he probably will be succeeded by Alfred E. Smith, former governor of New York state. Murphy has been leader of Tammany Hall 18 years.

"It is news to me," said Smith, "I am not interested, I am out of active politics."

According to the rumor, Murphy plans to go to Europe with State Tax Commissioner Michael J. Walsh, Democratic leader of Westchester county, as soon as his indictment on the charge of fraud in a glucose deal is out of the way. Walsh stated that he knew nothing of Murphy's future plans.

"DEUTSCHLAND" STARTED FIGHT

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Berlin, Jan. 17.—A fight in which musical instruments were wrecked took place in a restaurant at Gross-Lichterfeld, a suburb of Berlin, on Saturday night when Germans demanded that the orchestra play "Deutschland Über Alles" while General Nollet, the French military commander, was present.

The following account of the affair was printed by the Lokal Anzeiger today:

"The French General Nollet, accompanied by several staff officers, accepted an invitation from a German friend to take dinner in the restaurant. Although occupying a private stall and although General Nollet was incognito, he was recognized by other Germans. These Germans demanded that the orchestra play 'Deutschland Über Alles.' Others intervened and counselled quiet, but a fight broke out during which a violin and a piano were destroyed. General Nollet and the other French officers were untouched. They left the restaurant at once."

Among the score of prisoners arraigned in Jefferson Market Court on the charge of drunkenness were three young women who said they held responsible positions in the business world. Another prisoner in the same court was Frank Hayes, who said he was a St. Louis broker. Hayes told the magistrate that he had $2,500 in his possession. "All right," replied the magistrate, "I will take $10 of it."

U. & D. SHOPS ON PART TIME

A bulletin has been posted in the U. & D. Delaware railroad shops on the Strand calling the attention of the employees that until further notice the men would work four days a week. It is understood that the railroad decided to adopt the part time system in preference to reducing the force of men. The New York Central Lines, including the West Shore, and the O. & W. railroad and other lines are laying off men throughout the state.

CAPT. LEWIS'S ROAD ADVENTURES

Capt. Stanley Huntley Lewis, whose "Overland Submarine," and whose pictorial advertising for the navy on the windows of local merchants, have been the center of attraction in Kingston for the past three days and who speaks tonight at Keeney's in conjunction with "Mid Channel," gave the Freeman today an interesting description of his journey all over the United States in the interest of navy recruiting with his car.

"I have made the coast-to-coast journey twice," said Capt. Lewis, "and one trip from Chicago to Florida and return. Although the engine of my car is an obsolete model, 75 H. P., the long 'tail' or overhang at the rear steadies it at high speed and adds to the tractive force in mud and sand, or on heavy hills. I have never yet been stuck at any point where I was unable to extricate myself under my own power, even in the jam-bud of the south or the red clay of the middle west, and I have frequently pulled out less fortunate cars much heavier and more expensive than the 'submarine.'"

"The 'bugle' is an invention of my own, and is attached with a simple cut-out to the exhaust pipe. The four tubes were made by a corner factory at Elkhart, Ind., and I use ordinary rubber bands for the valve springs."

"The personal popularity of Clara Kimball Young, and the big crowds drawn by the picture in which she appears, and materially in the dissemination of our recruiting program, hence our 'cut-out' with 'Mid Channel.' As we are only accepting previous service men at present, it means that our efforts are redoubled as many ex-servicemen have retired, married and settled down to civilian life."

COLD WEATHER CHEERS ICE MEN

The sudden drop in the temperature on Sunday and today has been welcomed by the ice men along the Hudson river, and with more cold weather promised by the weather man indications for an ice crop are brightening. The chill wind that blew a miniature gale throughout the day kept the broken ice moving in the Hudson river, and only where the ice held firm did the ice thicken. Reports from the upper Hudson say that in places the ice in the river is holding firm and with continued cold weather will help to make ice. The ferry transport is experiencing no difficulty in making her scheduled trips between here and Rhinebeck, although the river is filled with floating ice.

"DRY" DRIVE TO SWEEP CHICAGO

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—A plan of campaign for the "dry" drive in Chicago has been known since the enactment of the Volstead law is being worked out today by federal prohibition agents. The drive is expected to be launched within ten days.

Prohibition enforcement officials fear that their most effective weapon against saloons that sell liquor may be taken away from them. More than 200 saloons have been closed recently under the provision of the law providing for the abatement of a nuisance. A petition to enjoin federal officers from closing saloons under this provision of the law has been taken to the Supreme Court and prohibition officers are anxious to make a "clean up" here to forestall the possibility of the injunction being granted.

"The five-cent loaf is simply dough and water and looks blue," said the secretary of one of the big bakery companies. "It is not as nourishing as our bread."

Chairman Fordney informed the news-gatherers that legislation would be ready in the first week of April. The first week did not state he would call the extra session at that time, however, Fordney said.

TARIFF BILL REPORTED TODAY

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Supporters of the emergency tariff bill in the senate reported today they are within three or four votes of the two-thirds necessary to invoke cloture, which under the senate rules would restrict debate on the measure and choke off the filibuster planned by its opponents.

They also hoped to be able to command the two-thirds vote necessary to override President Wilson's veto of the bill, if it reaches him, they stated.

They predict the bill would be passed before the end of the present session, despite the amendments with which it has been loaded down, and the dilatory tactics of its opposition.

The bill was reported in the senate today by Senator Penrose, Republican, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the senate finance committee, who favors most of the changes which were made in it by a majority of the committee. It was undetermined, however, how soon the senate would begin consideration of it.

The hands of the Republican leaders of the senate have been strengthened by the addition of Senators Gooding of Ohio and Willis, Ohio, to the slim Republican majority. Gooding replaces former Senator Nugent of Ohio, a Democrat defeated for re-election. Willis restores an active Republican vote which the absence of President-elect Harding, whom he succeeded, deprived the Republicans of.

Eliminating Senator Newberry of Michigan, the contest of whose election is still causing him to absent himself from the senate chamber, the Republicans now command, with the recent return of Senator Penrose, 49 votes, their original majority.

It is estimated from eight to eleven Democratic senators, due to the pressure from the agricultural interests of their states, which are strongly supporting the tariff bill, are prepared to vote with the Republicans for the measure.

Eleven Democratic votes added to the 49 Republican—for Senator McCormick of Illinois, now touring Europe, and other absentees are expected to return in time for the final vote—would give the bill's supporters 60 votes, or within four of the 64 necessary to provide two-thirds.

Protection for wheat, wool, cotton, peanuts, sugar, rice, frozen meats—products of the east, south and west—embodied in the bill as reported from committee, is likely to increase the number of its supporters, Republican leaders believe.

The margin between the bill's supporters and opponents has narrowed down so that the leaders of the latter admit they are no longer as sure of their ability to prevent its passage. They lack the moral support of the president, who has declined to utter one word to help them to keep Democratic senators in line who have bolted, or are threatening to bolt the Democratic minority leadership.

INCREASING LOCAL TAXES

"The Federal government can enforce such a law only at enormous expense and with an army of agents in every state," says Governor Miller, in recommending that the legislature enact a state law similar to the Volstead enforcement act, but placing the responsibility for its enforcement on local officers.

Will the expense of enforcement be any less if local officers do the work now entrusted to the Federal government? It is true that local machinery already exists in every community in the state which could be used in enforcing Prohibition through procurement of convictions, but will not the tax burden be brought home more directly to the individual taxpayer?

Local enforcement of the Federal Prohibition act would relieve the Federal administration of a certain amount of work, but would the Federal appropriations for enforcement be any less? The Prohibition enforcement officials and the Anti-Saloon League are clamoring for more money for more rigid Federal enforcement, which is paid by indirect taxes and the income tax. The cost of state and local enforcement would be payable by direct taxes which already are burdensome.

No law can be enforced unless public sentiment approves it. In the present state of mind regarding Prohibition, would it be an easy or inexpensive task to secure a conviction of any Volstead Act violator by a jury of his neighbors? Ordinarily it is necessary to have an extra panel of jurors to try offenders who are practically nonexistent in their own neighborhoods who are charged with serious offenses against persons and property.

Why add to the local and state tax rate by requiring local officials and courts to enforce Federal laws? If one Federal statute is to be enforced by local officials, why should not enforcement of all Federal laws by them be compulsory? Up to this time there has been no attempt by Federal officials to enforce state or local laws, or by local or state officials to enforce Federal laws for the obvious reason that the state and Federal governments each must maintain their own responsibilities. Dividing responsibility in effect means abolishing responsibility.

Should the Federal government, which is making appropriations for Federal Prohibition enforcement be allowed to "pass the buck" to localities at additional expense to the localities while Federal appropriations continue unabated?

If the Federal government is not strong enough to enforce its own laws, it can relinquish its power to the individual states which will at once relieve the situation to which Governor Miller calls attention when, in regard to Federal Prohibition enforcement, he says: "That manner of enforcement will strongly tend to break down state power, the maintenance of which is essential to the preservation of our scheme of government." The state and Federal governments can easily reach an understanding whereby state power can be re-asserted and state rights restored, but in the meantime should there be divided responsibility involving increased local taxes?

CUPID KNOWS BETTER.

The news comes from Chicago that Assistant Health Commissioner Koehler, with a view to preventing capable stenographers from marrying, has recommended to the city council that the girls be promoted and their pay increased. Being asked if he thought this would put an end to matrimony in the quarter mentioned, Commissioner Koehler is said to have answered emphatically that it would; that increased pay would make the girls independent and, there being no further need of doing so, they would not seek husbands. The age of Commissioner Koehler is not mentioned, but he seems to be young enough to dare publicly to think that all young working women find of marriage only as a means of bettering their financial condition, and he seems to be old enough to have forgotten all about the way of a man with a maid as well as the way of a maid with a man. He is a politician, a politician as well as a politician.

Cupid is a dangerous thing.

correctly informed about this matter. In large urban communities in these times there are independent young spinsters who preach that a girl who "falls for a man" and marries is a fool and ruins her life, but there is much evidence to show that in the majority of cases the working girl is quick to give up her independent salary for the sake of a man when her heart is involved and she believes that the man is the right one.

TO MOVE RECORD FREIGHT IN SPRING

Railways Expect 1921 to See Most Traffic in History Except in 1920 and Warn Shippers Who Can to Ship Now While Roads Have Surplus Facilities.

The Railway Age publishes in its current issue a series of articles to show why it is desirable and important that shippers who can "ship now" while the railroads have surplus capacity should do so.

"While it is true that there is a surplus of transportation facilities, particularly box cars and freight locomotives, in the United States today, it does not by any means follow that such will be the case two or three months from now. I cannot help feeling that the transportation facilities of the railroads will be fully used by next spring, say March or April. I think it is highly desirable, not only from the standpoint of the railroads but in the public interest, that, wherever possible and as much as possible, advantage be taken of the surplus facilities now to ship in anticipation of the wants later on. It is certain that the railroads, with their present facilities, are not able to take care of the possible 'peak' loads, and this is why I think it is wise to urge upon all who can do so to ship now."

R. H. Ashton, president of the American Railway Association, in an article says: "Keeping up the habit of capacity carloading and capacity car mileage during this period of transportation surplus would be of inestimable advantage when the days of car shortage come again. There is a great housing shortage, both for business and homes. Is it not fair to assume that one of the first upward movements will be in building construction? Clearly if every activity in this direction were to start May 1 there would be a tremendous load on the railroads. In a large part of the United States material for construction work can be handled during the winter months." Mr. Ashton asks why building materials, the thousands of cars of fertilizer used on the farms, materials used by the railways in maintenance work, etc., should not be shipped now and avoid the uncertainties of delay due to an overburdened transportation machine.

Charles H. Markham, president of the Illinois Central, says: "There is every reason to believe that the spring will bring a heavy revival of business following the winter slump. Every shipper will do well to make a study of his needs for the coming year and arrange his transportation demands in such a way that the movement will be facilitated."

Analyzing the situation in view of experience regarding the growth of railway freight for the last twenty-five years, and of present conditions, the Railway Age concludes that the railroads will have to handle more freight in 1921 than in any preceding year except 1920, unless the industrial depression shall prove to be more profound and prolonged than any which has occurred since 1913.

Continuing it says: "It need hardly be said that the determination of whether freight will be shipped now is not merely in the hands of those who have it to ship, but also in the hands of those who can buy things now or buy them later. Those who are considering whether they should buy goods now are naturally influenced greatly by whether they think the prices they must pay now are satisfactory or not, but business men should remember that if they do not buy or sell at the prices they can get now, they may be unable later to get satisfactory and sufficient transportation."

HOMESPUN YARN.

Tea coffee and over much meat are taboo at the children's table.

Possibly not enough vegetables in the diet. The children should eat them, too.

Those greens that you canned last spring taste mighty good now, don't they? How about a few more cases next season?

If an income is to be of most use a record must be kept of the way in which it is spent; with that knowledge one can tell whether it has been distributed wisely.

Affording things is largely a matter of the way you look at it. The farm that can afford modern tools and equipment can afford running water in the house, and a sewage system.

In many a farm home, the real family gathering place is the kitchen, especially in the winter. That's another reason why it should be bright and cheerful. Light colored paint helps a lot.

Now is a good time to make minor most. By picking over the apples in the cellar, those which show signs of decay can thus be utilized. Canvassing is another way to save the apples which have been to spoil. They will taste good in the spring.

When the wind blows so hard that it seems impossible to put the bedroom window up, wrap a window screen in a cotton cloth and use it to keep out the draft but not the air. Better still, cover a screen with cheese cloth and have it always ready to use.

With Mischief Tipped.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Jan. 17.—The "Mischief" of Ireland is being tightened. According to the Daily Express today, several British destroyers have arrived on the Devon coast under orders from the admiralty to keep a keen watch on all shipping for the prevention of arms smuggling. The commanders of the destroyers are said by the Daily Express to have authority to stop ports. Suspicious ships may be searched and those using private signals, either by day or by night, are liable to be fired upon.

In 1850 New York ranked first among the states in lumber cut. It now contributes only one per cent of the total. That's what comes of emptying the bucket but never filling it up.

Enrollments in the Cornell farm study courses are increasing at the rate of one hundred a month. The State College at Ithaca is extending its free instruction in agriculture to residents of the state by means of sight of these courses in as many subjects.

A resolution was unanimously adopted at the annual convention of the Oregon Chamber of Commerce in Portland, Oregon, December 29th, that it should be the policy of the state in the regulation of public utilities that the department of corporations and the public service commission are their utmost endeavor in formulating constructive policies to establish highest standard of service and good will between the public and the public utility corporations to the end that the people of our state be willing to invest in securities of such utilities on equal terms with other progressive western states. Wild Cherry, Aspirin and Cod Liver Extract

Most cough syrups are just cough syrups. After years of experimentation and tests the laboratories of the Gibson-Snow Company have perfected a cough syrup which meets all the requirements laid down for it and more.

The tang of wild cherry, healthful eucalyptus, tissue building cod liver extract and congestion relieving aspirin all are scientifically blended in Gibson-Snow's Wild Cherry Cough Syrup.

This syrup is pleasant to take. Its aroma and tang suggest the great outdoors and the healing curative effects of Mother Nature. It takes hold of the cough or cold and relieves it immediately. Even coughs and colds of the most persistent types yield to its soothing qualities. Its tissue building properties help Nature restore vitality, making it particularly valuable in treating ailments of the throat and lungs.

This Wild Cherry Cough Syrup is a Gibson-Snow Quality Product. Use it in conjunction with MUSTER-ICE for coughs and colds. Wild Cherry Cough Syrup internally—Muster-ice externally. Your druggist has them.

On his arrival the first day he repaired to the spillway at the canal and after casting in his line several times hooked an 18-pound catfish 32 inches long, that tried his skill as a fisherman before it was landed. ROSENDALE HEARS DR. BOWDISH

Similar Meeting at West Hurley Monday Evening—Others Scheduled by Home Bureau This Week.

The fourth talk in the health course being conducted in the county by the Home Bureau cooperating with the state department of health was held Monday afternoon at Rosendale in the school house. Dr. Palmer Bowdish was the speaker and his subject was "The Prevention and Care of Diseases Between Ages of 16 and 25." Of all the meetings in the course this one was possibly the most instructive and interesting given so far. Dr. Bowdish is not only an able speaker and a physician with much experience, but he had made special study of the diseases taken up in this talk.

Mrs. C. V. Halsey, Home Bureau chairman, presided at the meeting and Mrs. Harry Ten Hagen acted as secretary. Following Dr. Bowdish's talk, Mrs. William Warren of Hurley, County Home Bureau chairman, spoke in a most interesting way of the Home Bureau membership campaign that is in progress and will continue until March 1.

This evening the West Hurley Home Bureau will have their fourth meeting of this health course and Dr. Bowdish will speak on the same subject as at Rosendale. The meeting will be held in the West Hurley Church and begin at 7:30 p. m.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

New York, Jan. 17.—Local transportation stocks were the feature of the trading at the opening of the stock market today, these issues making substantial gains because of the belief that legislation is close at hand that will bring relief to the operating companies, through a modification of the present interborough and Brooklyn Rapid Transit contracts. Brooklyn Rapid Transit rose 1 1/2 to 12 1/4. Interborough issues also advanced, the Common gaining 3/4 to 1 1/4 and the Preferred 1/2 to 1 1/2. Third Avenue made a gain of 2 1/2 to 13 1/2. The bonds of these issues also made substantial advances. Interborough 6 1/2 moving up two points to 55 and the 4 1/2's made a gain of one point, Brooklyn Rapid Transit 5 1/2's rose over 1 point to 25 and the 7 1/2's two points to 47. United Fruit sold ex-dividend 100 per cent (stock dividend) at 102 1/2, a net gain of 1 1/2 points. Strength was shown in some of the steel industrials in the early trading, Baldwin advancing 1/2 to 32 1/2 and Republic Steel 3/4 to 76, but those stocks reacted after the initial trading.

Market movements were irregular during the forenoon with the trend to higher levels. The local transportation issues continued prominent, making further advances while the bonds of the various systems also made additional advances.

Interborough Preferred rose 2 1/2 to 14 1/2. Third Avenue rose 1/2 to 17 1/2 and Brooklyn Rapid Transit rose 1 1/2 to 13 1/4. The oil issues were active but without much change in price after the first few minutes. Baldwin Locomotive after selling at 32 1/2, dropped to 30 1/2 and then rallied to 31 1/2. Steel Common ranged from 83 to 83 1/2. International Paper was heavy, falling 2 points.

The copper stocks featured the trading during the afternoon. Seneca rose 1 1/2 to 20 1/2. Utah over 2 points to above 55; Inspiration 1 1/2 to 35 1/2 and Anaconda nearly 2 points to 39 1/2. The steel industrials were in continued supply, steel falling off to 32 1/2 and Baldwin fell from 31 1/2 to 31. Crucible, however, was in active demand and rose to 93 1/2. The market closed irregular; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds strong.

Seventeen-Pound Trout! Trout vary greatly within the species, according to the nature of the waters they inhabit, the variations being manifested in their color, size, form and in development, says the American Forestry Magazine. As to their weight Mr. Hallowell, a famous American sportsman, claims to have known of one that weighed seventeen pounds, while as a rule they do not run over three or four pounds.
